Training-Workshop on Statistics for Research Advisers and Panelists

March 13-15, 2025

Selah Pods Hotel, Pasay City, Philippines

The backbone of data analysis, statistics provides a structured framework to collect, organize, interpret, and present data effectively. Research advisers rely on statistical tools to identify potential biases, confounding variables, and limitations in the research, leading to more robust and credible outcomes. Furthermore, panelists with statistical proficiency can better understand, provide critical evaluation, and interpret the presented results, ensuring that the conclusions drawn are accurate and meaningful. With advancements in AI, data visualization, and statistical software, how can research advisers and panelists enhance their statistical literacy to uphold academic excellence and contribute to the development of a robust, impactful student research?

Aiming to guide research advisers and panelists in research defense interpellation, the Asian Society of Teachers for Research, Inc. holds the Asian Society of Teachers for Research, Inc. holds the Training-Workshop on Statistics for Research Advisers and Panelists on March 13-15, 2025 at the Selah Pods Hotel, Pasay City, Philippines!
